Typo Typo is an experimental typeface based on topographic data from Colorado's front range. Each letterform was found in USGS contour data and edited to create letters, numbers, and select punctuation.

Thompson

An experimental typeface

Sarah Olick - 2020

It all started with an n on the cover of an old summer camp songbook. Thompson not only takes its shape from the n on the songbook, but it also takes its name from the lake that is home to the camp.

Thompson is constructed using only vertical and 45 degree lines (plus some slab serifs).
